

Video Production

About this Program

Digital Video Production is for students seeking a career in the field of film and video production. Students will gain hands-on experience with digital video production and editing equipment preparing them for careers in production, camera operation, video editing, multi-media artist, and broadcast technicians. Students will have the opportunity to become certified in an industry software program, Adobe Premiere Pro. Digital Video Production 1 is based on group production and the creation process. Students who participate in this program will obtain the privilege of partaking in a hands-on learning experience. In just two semesters, students will create five projects including a music video, public service announcement, and a news package picking up skills like scripting, filming, and editing along the way.
